"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Is the best vemedy we have found for constipation.
We cannot say too much for it." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mr. Winfield S. Taylor, 342 Penn St., Burlington, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy for constipation because it acts gently and does not gripe and strain. Its freedom from all habit-forming properties and its positive effect make it the ideal remedy for the family medicine-chest.

FIGHT GRIPPE WITH CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT Influenza, Head Colds and Coughs Controlled Promptly. Soldier Volunteers to Wad "Vag" But It Didn't Work. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—(I. N. S.)—Dan Cupid lost his case before Judge Andy Calhoun in the city court. Just as the judge was about to pronounce sentence on a young woman who had been arraigned on a charge of vagrancy, a soldier stepped, forth from the audience and announced that he wished to marry the accused young woman. Mrs. Maybelle Laver, the defendant, smiled her assent, and the court halted his sentence. But Assistant Solicitor Ed Hill objected. He remarked to the court that nothing was known of the young woman, and that she might be permitted to commit bigamy: that she might already have a husband. Mrs Laver admitted that she had been twice married, but insisted that she is free now. She said she had

Coughs Controlled Promptly.

A great many of our readers are taking Cheney's Expectorant in the treatment of Grippe, Influenza, Coughs and Colds. They want something that goes to the seat of the trouble and produces results, stops the Grippe Pains and breaks up the worst Cough or Cold.

When the first symptoms, such as fever accompanied by chills, are felt cleanse the system thoroughly with a purgative. Take Cheney's Expectorant immediately, as directed on the label, and keep the body warm.

No home should be without Cheney's Expectorant. It is also advised for Croup and Whooping Cough.—

REBELLION COMBATTED

How Crisis in Africa Was Averted Told by Harcourt.

London, Nov. 23,—(Delayed.)—At a meeting of the Empire and Parliamentary association at the house of parliament tonight, Viscount Lewis Harcourt, first commissioner of works, told an interesting story of the methods used in epmbating the threatened revolt in South Africa in 1914. The danger which threatened South Africa at that time, he said, was not fully realized by the country in general. Rebel forces had captured the arms and ammunition belonging to the forces of the Union of South Africa, and Gen. Botha cabled for their replacement without delay. An appeal was made to Lord Kitchener, who refused to divert one rifle or one cartridge from the European front.

Lord Harcourt said he searched the world for marky a week and related to the supplementations in the housing of its embassies in adequate and imposing quarters worthing improvement and expansion was the only proper policy.

But a new light was dawned upon me as I have viewed the American embassy.

We perfectly agreed that the United States should not be behind other nations in the housing of its embassies in adequate and imposing quarters worthing prepared to all the proper policy.

Cabled News to Germany.

Lord Harcourt, who was formerly colonial secretary, said that immediately after the British ultimatum to Germany expired at midnight Aug. 4, 1814, he had cabled the fact to the whole German empire and before morning had received replies from the smallest and most outlying centers, During the war, he reminded his hearers. England never lost a colcenters. During the war, he reminded his hearers, England never lost a colony, even temporarily, although the Falkland islands had been saved by a margin of only twenty-four hours. In view of the food conditions which permission to present the children with empress thanked him effusively for it,

"The two hundred patients in the hospital in Mezieres had to be re-moved under this bombardment." Haif an hour before the armistics was signed, the bombing and looting ceased, said the dispatch.

LIGHTNING STRUCK SHIP

Gasoline Cargo Exploded—Men Reach Philippines. Washington, Nov. 26.—(I. N. S.)— After ten days without food and five days without water, fourteen survivors of the Du Maru, which was struck by lightning twenty miles off Guam, on Oct. 16, have landed at San Jose, in the Philippine islands, according to a cablegram reaching the navy department. The men were in open boats for thirty-eight days. Sixteen died of starvation and exposure and two were drowned, the survivors said. The Du Maru car-ried a cargo of gasoline. The vessel sailed from San Francisco on Sept. 12, with a crew of forty-six and one passenger.

All took to three lifeboats when the vessel was set ablaze by the lightning and were at a safe distance when the gasoline finally exploded. Two of the boats were picked up a few days later, but although only twenty miles from Guam, the third was unable to reach land and was swept away by the adverse currents.

Writer Suggests Use of Our Army Warehouses in France. Warehouses in France.

(C. W. Barron, in Wall Sreet Journal.)
St. Nazaire, France.—At the capital of Switzerland I found our enterprising Minister Stovell with his able lieutenanta in a beautiful chateau in a garden of trees, shrubs and flowers. He lamented that he could not get the appropriation through congress to buy for pound so the south has been crying for warehouses to salvage the cotton crop and equalize distribution and prices. Europe has had the advantage of its great warehouses and its more settled finance, and has been able to take advantage of necessitous shipments from over the ocean.

The great cry after the war will be for expanding commerce. But how can you have expanding commerce without warehouses and goods in reserve store?

Why build warehouses for cotion in the south when we have empty warehouses in Europe and idle ships that may fill them with American goods? The American supply depots here were planned to provision armies of 4.500,000 men. Therefore the Americans moved up the river back of the town and laid out four and a half square miles of whrehouses with more than 200 miles of railroad tracks and a thousand railroad awitches.

By filling they raised marsh and meadows two or three feet. They put in cement bases for steel supports and steel framework and covered these with corrugated iron and smonitor topped roofs lighting all the storage spaces.

They planned here for 183 warehouses and have them half built. Four ordnance warehouses 50x150 feet and more than forty goods warehouses each 400x50 feet are completed, and the whole project should be finished this winter.

Otto, a golden-haired, blue-eyed, grave-mannered boy, shook hands with the corespondent, saying in English:

"How do you do: thank you."

The former empress said Otto had just learned the English words, adding:

"He speaks only German and Hungarian, but he is intensely interested to know all about America, where it is and what kind of people live there. He also is anxious to talk to you, as we see so few new faces."

The former empress seemed to take pleasure in talking of her children and gave the impression of being wrapped up in their welfare. Like the former emperor, she shows evidences of recent cares and apprehension for the future. She personally cared for her children all during the war.
